(C968-1016) ETHELRED II, The Unready
King of England (979-1016). His reign was marked by almost continuous warfare with the Danes, who began to plunder the coasts in 980. In 991 he bought them off.
In 994, with the aid of OLAF, King of Norway, they besieged London. From 997 to 1000 they ravaged the coasts of Kent, Sussex and Wessex. In 1000 Ethelred II made war upon Normandy and was defeated by Duke Richard II with whom he made peace. He also made peace with the Danes in the same yr, but on the pretext that they were plotting against him he ordered all of the Danes in England to be massacred on Nov 13, 1002. SWEYN, King of Denmark sought swift revenge & kept up a war for four years. In 1007 Ethelred bought them off. In 1009 his fleet was wrecked in a storm. Another peace was sought in 1012.

In 1013 SWEYN, with large fleet, attacked London. He was accepted as king by the people. Ethelred fled to Normandy. Sweyn died 1014. Ethelred was recalled, Defeated Canute 1016. In 1015 Canute returned; Ethelred died.
